The Canadian currency and the banks in Quebec

The Canadian monetary system is based on the system of Canadian dollars and cents. In order to convert your money into Canadian dollars during your stay in Quebec, you can go to any bank or currency exchange office in the city.

We recommend using a bank debit card that has the Interac, Visa or MasterCard logos as Automatic Tellers (ATMs) are commonly connected to these networks. You can also use a traveler's cards (such as Visa Passport) which also provide access to ATMs and additional security features. Traveler's checks can also be used. Most of Canadians use credit cards (VISA, MasterCard or American Express) and debit cards.

In Quebec there is a 5% federal tax (GST) and a 9.975% provincial tax (QST) applied to most purchased items. Some of these taxes can be refunded to travelers who present all of their invoices at the airport on return day.

It is also possible to open a bank account while in Quebec City. Your host family can assist you if need be.

The Weather in Quebec

The continental climate of Québec supports large differences in temperature and scenery in each of the 4 seasons. The average minimum and maximum annual temperatures are -15 °C and 25 °C, respectively. With a snowy winter, winter activities are common in the city and the scenery is beautiful. About the winter low temperature, you have to be aware that each house and building with public services is equipped with efficient heating systems.

In spring, nature awakens with full magnitude giving way to the summer where the sun and the heat bring the city alive with outdoor activities. The colors of autumn, known throughout the world, create a wonderful and unforgettable landscape.

What to bring to Quebec

If you come to study during the winter (from December until March), you should bring:

- For outdoor activities: Coat, pants, gloves and boots, these items should be waterproof and should also resist to low temperatures; also, a scarf and a hat (made of wool or any other warm material).
- For every day: coat (the same one used during the exterior activities), winter pants, winter sweater, wool gloves, winter socks, cotton shirts, comfortable shoes.

We recommend you bring any piece of clothing made of thermal material, so you can use it in case the temperature is very low. If you want, you can also bring winter underwear (special shirts and socks you can wear under regular clothes).

If you come to study during the summer period (from June to August), don't forget:

- a raincoat or an umbrella
- long pants and jeans
- underwear
- bermuda shorts
- a couple of winter sweaters
- sports clothes
- socks
- sports shoes
- summer sport shirts
- swimsuit
- beach towel
- a light coat
- sandals for the pool
- comfortable shoes
- dresses or skirts
- slippers

Always bring:

- Lunch box
- Pyjama
- Personal hygiene items (deodorant, shampoo, tooth paste, tooth brush...)
- A small bag
- Prescription drugs you must take or a copy of the medical prescription
- Sunscreen
- Sunglasses
- Normal glasses and contact lenses (with the products you need for them)
- Your valid passport
- Alarm clock
- French-native language dictionary (pocket format or electronic)
- A backpack to carry your books
- School supplies such as notebooks, pencils, pens, erasers, pencil sharpeners, etc.

Medical insurance for out-of-province and international students in Quebec

Every student must have emergency medical insurance coverage during their entire stay in Quebec. Canadian students from other provinces have the right to medical care in Quebec upon presentation of their provincial medical card. A reliable medical insurance with INGLE International is provided by Edu-inter and included in your package deal for the whole period of your stay so you don't need to purchase one.

You must always have your medical insurance card when visiting the hospital or clinic and present it upon arrival.

In case of illness or accident, please notify your host family immediately. If you get ill and you are not in condition to attend school, you must notify the school of your absence.

In case you need to go to a clinic or a hospital, someone from Edu-inter will accompany you. Edu-inter will pay for the medical consultation as well as for the prescribed medication. Then the school will complete the Claim Form to get reimbursed.

If you are not in school or in your accommodation while feeling ill, please call our Emergency Number (24 hours) at 418 264-8952.

Edu-inter's families<sup>5</sup>

Your Canadian Family

Quebec families are often “non-traditional” and structures could be different from commonly traditional nuclear families. Our host families are middle or high economic class families.

What to expect from your experience in a Canadian family

It is important to have realistic expectations to ensure a pleasant experience. The houses in Canada are cozy and have one or two floors plus the basement. In your home you will have your own bedroom and you will share the other rooms in the house, including the bathroom. In most of Canadian homes, it is required to take off your shoes before walking around the house. Many Canadian families have pets such as dogs and cats. There is the possibility that other students of different nationalities stay in the same house, as long as the house has enough space. As a student in the host family, you will be treated as a member of the family.

You will receive a house key, in case the members of the family need to leave a few minutes before you in the morning or if they are running late in the evening.

On the first day of school, families explain to students how to get to school and back to the homestay by public transportation.

We recommend each student to bring their cellphone during the program provided with an international plan, so they can easily call our emergency number.

Meals

One of the best parts of a trip to Quebec is sampling local cuisine! It is important to have an open mind since meals are an important part of the life in a host family. Breakfast is usually something fast such as fruit, juice, cereal, toast, milk, coffee, yogurt, tea, etc. On weekends, families have more time to prepare eggs with meat (bacon, sausage, ham), pancakes and more elaborated breakfast but you shouldn't take it for granted. In Quebec, we usually have lunch around noon. If you have the three meals formula with your host family, you will bring a lunchbox with food such as sandwiches, fruit, juice, and yogurt. The main meal, dinner, is usually around 6:00 pm. Dinner includes meat or fish, vegetables, rice, potatoes or pasta, bread and desserts. You can always ask for more food if you are hungry. It is very important to notify your family in case of missing or being late for dinner time. If you would like a specific type of food or if there is anything you don't like or can't eat, you should talk to the family. Our host families are very accommodating.

Personal hygiene

In Quebec, people usually shower once a day, brush their teeth twice or three time a day and use deodorant. They typically shower 10 minutes and showering it not considered acceptable after 11 pm, especially if the family is sleeping. They are careful about positioning the shower curtains correctly to avoid getting water on the floor. Tampons and sanitary napkins are thrown in the trash, not in the toilet. When using the toilet, they don't throw the toilet paper in the trash, but in the toilet and then flush it. About clothing, it is the host family who is responsible for washing.

Team work is not allowed in the library. Students can go to the Group Study Room open from Monday to Friday, from 12h05 to 13h10. There are sockets so that students might work on their own laptop.

Computer Lab

The computer lab is available to students during lunch time (12h15 – 13h00) from Monday to Friday. All students have access to do their work or research as part of a course. They can also use their own laptop. Printing documents is limited but possible. Each student receives a personal code to access their user account which allows him to record his copies / work and thus protect its copyright. The use of a USB key is nevertheless suggested. The computers are equipped with Microsoft Office 2010 to allow them to work with the most current tools.

Cafeteria

Reflecting Saint-Jean Eudes's standards, the cafeteria offers products of the highest quality while being accessible to its customers. All products (sandwiches, main dishes, soups, desserts) are fresh and homemade cooked. Quick meals to take out are also offered. Meals cards with reduced prices can be bought. The lunch meal is under the host family responsibility. If the host family does not provide a lunch to bring at school, it will pay the meal in the cafeteria.

Gymnasium

A gym is available to students during lunchtime (11h30 – 12h45) and after classes for various sports activities. The new floor surface is ideal for sport activities (gym, deck hockey, free badminton, basketball, volleyball, etc.)

Training Room

training programs. It is opened for all students from 7h30 to 8h30 and during lunch time.

Health Service

A nursing is provided for students who feel ill. If you feel tired or if there is an accident, the receptionist you will receive you and will let you rest in the room and, if needed, she will call Edu-inter and the host family for a transfer to the hospital or to go back home. Please note that no medication will be given at school at any time.

STUDENT SUPPORT

Academic Tutoring

Saint-Jean Eudes Private High School offers its students a notable coaching through tutoring formula and educational support every day of the week. Within the tutoring service, a teacher is assigned to a number of students and provides to them the necessary assistance on educational, personal and social levels. The tutor is responsible for the progress of his students, for helping them to solve their academic problems and personal problems as well as to develop good working practices, to harmonize school activities and to integrate the group of students.

Specialized intervention

Two specialized workers are available full-time for students at school. The main roles of the caregivers are support, supervision and awareness of the different issues faced by adolescents.

In school

Specialized workers are present in the various key moments of the student's journey. They become an important figure and accessible when needed. Their roles in the school are diverse:

- presence and supervision in rest areas (breaks and lunch);
- animation on the occasion of festivities such as Halloween, Christmas and Valentine's Day;
- setting up student committees with leadership qualities and a spirit of collaboration;
- prevention during thematic weeks such as suicide, drug addiction, smoking, etc.

In class

Specialized workers plan strategies to help students succeed with their success. They also develop prevention plans to make students aware of different topics.

They supervise students with learning difficulties by offering them strategies of organization, planning, learning, etc. In addition, specialized counselors conduct prevention workshops in the classroom related to topics such as bullying, substance abuse, sexuality, social networks, stress management, drinking and driving, and much more.

Individual service

The specialized workers receive the student to accompany him in his daily challenges. It is a privileged and confidential moment so that he can express himself without being afraid of judgment. According to his needs (mourning, separation, relationship problems, stress, etc.), the student receives psychosocial help through planned or informal meetings. An evaluation is then made, and the workers direct it, if necessary, to resources adapted to the problem.

Orthopedagogy

Saint-Jean-Eudes offers its own service of orthopedagogy to facilitate the follow-up and the supervision of the pupils in difficulties. Based on the "Response to Intervention (RAI)" model, we adopt a preventive approach that focuses on the early identification of students with learning difficulties. Pedagogical differentiation is at the heart of our practices and we know how to implement measures of flexibility or adaptation to meet the different needs of students (dyslexia, dysorthography, dysphasia, attention deficit, etc.).

SCOLAR orientation

The school and vocational guidance service is always available to help the student get to know each other better, to discover his fields of interest, to develop his talents and to learn about the trades and professions that correspond to his preferences. each.

The guidance service organizes several activities that allow the student to learn more about the training offered by the different educational institutions as well as the professions. Some of these activities are mandatory, other volunteers.

It is also possible to make an appointment with the guidance service throughout the year. These meetings serve, among other things, to draw up an action plan for the steps to be taken to explore and discover the trades. Activities of self-knowledge and information retrieval are proposed, according to the needs of each.

School Transportation

Transportation to go to school is at the student's own expenses. The student shall use public transportation (RTC) from home to school and back or the private service offered by the school. The private bus service offered from the school. It is $800 CAD for the year if you wish to take advantage of it. If you need or want this service, we will accompany you throughout the process while on-site.

Student Card

The OPUS card from the RTC will be used as the student card for all students. This card will also be your library card. On your first day at school, the school will issue the card to all students.

School life

About life style

Upon arrival

One important thing to remember at your arrival is that we are here to help you. You will probably be tired of your flight and might feel a little bit nostalgic. Don't worry! It's normal and you will get better! It is important to spend time with your host family to develop a good relationship with its members and to get used to each other.

Culture shock

Culture shock is part of the adaptation normal process. Travelers are usually very excited before their arrival. At first, they try to adapt to the culture and food that are different from their home. But then, when someone starts to get settled and to adapt to his new environment, he can start to feel a little lonely and frustrated because people around him do things differently and are not always easy to understand. Moreover, language barrier can lead him to feel homesick. Culture shock usually appears within a month after arrival in the new country. In case it happens, it is important not to judge the new culture in a negative way, but to try to accept the differences. Keep doing activities you already liked in your home country. That might help you keep some benchmarks and feel better. Talking to the host family or with us about your feelings will definitely help you.

Communication Styles

The Quebec people usually say what they really think, and they will tell you exactly what they mean. Eye contact is very important when you are talking. When talking to each other, people usually keep a distance between 60 and 90 cm between them. Don't feel uncomfortable if people ask you a lot of questions. Quebecers are usually curious, they like to talk, and they like to know how you feel about their city. The first time you meet someone it's appropriate to shake hands.

Going back home

On your last day, you will receive a certificate that indicates the duration and the level of the program you will have completed in the school. You might feel sad when you'll say goodbye to us, to your host family and to your new friends, but your experience in Canada will stay with you forever. The memories will enrich your personal life and your new knowledge of French will be very useful in your future endeavors. Edu-inter will do everything to make your experience here unforgettable! It is now up to you to enjoy it to its maximum!
